Conyngham dentist, Robert Shandrick, DMD, FAGD, LVIF, spent several days attending lectures, demonstrations and new product presentations, at the annual IACA (International Association of Comprehensive Aesthetics) this July, in Hollywood, Florida. The IACA Convention is sponsored and directed by the Las Vegas Institute of Advanced Dental Studies (LVI) in Nevada, a premier post graduate dental training center, where Shandrick is an alumni and Fellow.

While at the IACA Convention, Dr. Shandrick, along with dentists from around the USA and Canada, completed a day long Fellowship review of dental procedure and science in a wide variety of areas in dentistry. The review was under the direction of Dr. Mark Duncan, Clinical Director at LVI. Shandrick's original Fellowship training at LVI included over 300 hours of lecture, hands-on, and live patient treatment, with other dentists from the USA and world wide. Fellowship level requirement encompasses successful completion of 7 core curriculum course levels in restorative, cosmetic, and neuromuscular dentistry, including the highest core level, "Full Mouth Reconstruction" in which Shandrick restored a patient's entire dentition cosmetically and functionally to an ideal physiologic state, in two comprehensive clinical appointments. To complete Fellowship requirements at LVI, Shandrick passed the written Fellowship exam, testing understanding in areas such as Neuromuscular dentistry, adhesion dentistry, TMJ dysfunction, laser dentistry, restorative dentistry, anatomy and physiology, and cosmetic dentistry. Shandrick also currently holds a Fellowship with the Academy of General Dentistry.
